Girls' Ribbonero and Men's Whiskerino Prelude to Supper

TRADITION VIOLATORS TO FACE VIOLENT PERSECUTION

With the starting of the Whiskerino on Monday, October 17, President Joe Garcia and the members of the Block "S" Society of the junior college have been deputized to enforce the growing of the bristles. All Block "S" members have been granted permission to inspect the handsome faces of all men who are suspiciously lacking in fuzz.

Permits will be issued to those men whose jobs prevent them from entering into the brush-cultivating contest. However, to receive a permit, the applicant must be armed with a good excuse and 25 cents in United States silver. (What a racket!) Work will soon be started on a mud hole out near the parking lot where violators of amendment 0, the anti-shaving law, will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. There will be no favoritism shown, and all men who fail to enter into the spirit of the whiskerino must be willing to take the consequences.

Plans are being made for the Men's Club supper which will be held on the night of November 4. From all accounts, everything about it will be big, even the clams. The boys are busily planning a floor show for the entertainment of those who attend.

The program for the day will be published next week. Among the events planned are a serpentine down-town and a big rally which will start on Main Street and wind up at the junior college.

ORIGINALITY IN HAIR RIBBONS IS URGED

A ribbon, a ribbon, some big and little ribbons. I wrote a letter to our prexy and, by the way, I asked her. She told me, she told me, that all who don't wear ribbons will have the honor and the privilege of working on all the clean-up committees for the remainder of the semester. (And if you don't believe that that's a nasty job, just ask one who knows). We want all of you girls to burst forth in your ribbonero finery as soon as you possibly can—any kind of a ribbon. Can it be red? Yes, yes, yes, yes. Can it be blue? Yes, yes, yes, yes. Can it be plaid? Yes, yes, yes, yes — just a big or little ribbon.

Come on, girls; you have to show these boys a thing or two. Of course, we admit that you can't grow beards, side-burns, mustaches, or other hirsute adornments, but you can show your originality and individuality in the matter of head accessories. We have had comic paper ribbons, crepe paper ribbons, rag ribbons, and almost every conceivable kind of ribbon, but you can always think of something new and different. So unless you want to spend the rest of the semester picking up papers, debris, etc., after every party, you had better do something about it.

We hear rumblings deep down that the WHOOSITS is about to make an appearance. What is the WHOOSITS? We don't know—do you? Watch the Battery for further developments.

POST-GAME DANCE TO HONOR MARIN JAYSEERS

After the Panther-Marlin tilt tonight, come out to the homecoming dance in the Jaysee gym and celebrate our victory by doing your stuff to the music of Jack Nelson's orchestra. If the crowd is big enough, the school library may be thrown open and two orchestras supplied to help you work off your spirit.

Marin rooters and team will be our guests at the dance. All alumni are invited, and it is hoped that in the future they will turn this dance into a regular affair.

Prices will be lower than they have ever been in the junior college because of the short time which will remain after the game. Twenty-five cents each is all that is being charged.

Year's Star Athletes To Receive Award

This year's most outstanding athlete will become the proud owner of the Harry B. Sproles watch award. Sproles, one of the town's leading jewelers, will award a gold wrist watch, designed by himself, to the junior college athlete who makes the best showing this year in the largest number of sports. In addition to outstanding athletic ability, scholastic standing of the winner must be above reproach.

The watch, which is on display in the jeweler's window, is a typical Sproles creation, made in New York under specifications of the jeweler himself. It carries all the craftsmanship and dependability of every watch by Sproles.

Last year, instead of a watch, Mr. Sproles donated a trophy to the outstanding player in each junior college sport.

Alumni Homecoming; Old Grads' Dance to Be Grid Season Tradition

RADIO RALLY YESTERDAY SUCCESSFUL

One of the biggest and most successful radio rallies ever to be assembled was held yesterday when more than half of the Salinas Junior College turned out to support the previews of the Marin-Salinas game tonight.

The students organized at the parking lot at 3:30 o'clock near the Central grammar school and marched down Alisal Street to Main Street. From there they went down Gabilan Street to Monterey and then to the offices of the Index-Journal where they gave a few yells and the band played several marches.

The parade was led by the Salinas Junior College band under the direction of Mr. L. McCann. The band had just purchased a new pennant with a gold panther and the name "Salinas J. C." inscribed on it. The flag is six by twelve feet.

The program over KDON from 3:45 to 4 o'clock was as follows: Coach Ed Adams and several members of the football team gave a short talk on tonight's game with Marin.

Several songs and musical numbers were given by the band, along with some yells led by Laurie Matiasovich and Sally Hayes.

Pink slips are out. All of you know what they mean. If you have received a pink slip, it is a sure sign that you are in grave danger of flunking your course, and you had better do something about it in a hurry. Pink slips are OUT!

Alumni homecoming, Mother and Dad's night, an alumni dinner, and a rally will all be features of the Marin J. C. vs. Salinas J. C. game tonight at the Lettuce Bowl.

The whole affair will start off with an inspection of the campus by the alumni. This ought to prove interesting to the grads, as there have been many changes in the last two or three years. President Werner is also planning on having the blue prints of the new building out for inspection for all those who are interested.

Next on the program will be an informal dinner at the Hotel Cominos for all business men of Salinas who are interested in the development of the Salinas Junior College, alumni, prominent students of the S. J. C., faculty, and possibly a few of the important football players. Alumni members are invited to attend the rally which will be held seventh period in the library.

At 7:30, the lights will come on in the stadium, and the appearance of the band, marching down the field, will mark the opening of the first night football game in Salinas. It will also be the first attempt at an alumni homecoming organization. It is planned that in the future, one game a year will be set aside as the OLD GRADS' game.

The starting kick-off will come at 8 o'clock. Between 7:30 and 8, the band members will entertain the crowd with a specially prepared concert. They have a whole repertoire of peppy songs to play during the game and in the half. A special attraction (Continued on page 2, Col. 4)

STEFAN IS FROSH HEAD

Charles Stefan was elected freshman president at the first meeting of the freshman class which was held in the library last Friday. Herbert F. Langdon acted as advisor for the class, and Jack Nelson was appointed to act as temporary chairman until a president could be elected.

Stefan received 55 votes to win over his opponents, Russell Cunningham, Frank Osmer, and James Young. He is a graduate of Watsonville High School where he achieved the high award of being valedictorian of the 1938 graduating class in addition to being president of the scholarship society in that school.

In the race for the office of social chairman, Jean Meese received 65 votes to nose out her opponent, Thelma Philbrick. Herb Jacobson was unopposed for the office of secretary-treasurer.

ELECTION IS TO BE RE-RUN

Due to stuffing of the ballot box in the sophomore election last Wednesday, the election committee decided to hold a second election today, if possible. It is definitely known that some sophomores voted more than once.

Candidates were nominated at the first sophomore class meeting last Friday. Running for the presidency are Doug Schwartz, Laurie Matiasovich, Ed Hilby, and John Swartly.

Candidates for vice-president are Jane Vincent, Vivian Stephenson, Genemarie Anderson, and Abe Fuji. Sally Hayes was nominated, also, but because of her present student body office, she declined the nomination.

Those nominated for secretary are Agnes Fernie, Laurie Pilling and Joyce White. Those for treasurer are Ray Kirby, Harold Peters, Bob Kane, Bob Davis, and Byron Scott.

EDITORIALS

SUPPORT SCHOOL ELECTIONS

How much do you think of your school and your class? Do you care at all who runs your class and how? If you do, you should be feeling a little warm around the collar when you think about the recent class elections. About 15 students represented each class. With that number, officers to represent your class for the whole year were nominated and elected. Because no other students were present, it was taken for granted that the others were not interested enough in their class affairs to run as officers. Consequently, the few that were present nominated and elected each other to the various offices.

This was the way in which you allowed your leaders for the entire year to be chosen. Of course, if you don't care what happens to your class, you wouldn't care who was elected to do your class business anyway. But if you really want to leave your mark on the school, you should see to it that the people put in office are those who will really get in and work, who are best fitted for the office, and who haven't too much else to do.

In order to prevent a repetition of such farces as the recent class elections, the freshman class should do something about the matter of drawing up a constitution.

STUDENT CONDUCT

Again we must remind you that the parking lot was made for the purpose of giving you a place in which to park your cars. You are asked to refrain from parking in front of the school, and also in front of the homes on Alisal Street. The continuation of the town's goodwill toward our school is based on the residents' reaction toward us. Please help us to keep that good will by parking your cars in our lot rather than in front of their homes.

You are also asked to throw your garbage in the garbage cans which are provided for that purpose, rather than throwing it in the street in front of the homes. Not only have students been guilty of depositing refuse in the gutters, but they have been seen eating their lunches on the lawns across the street. Often they forget to bring their garbage back with them. If you feel like eating your lunch away from the school property, there is an excellent park only a half a block away with lawns, trees, and sufficient garbage cans where you may eat all you want, when you want, and still not annoy our neighbors.

Please cooperate in keeping the landscape clean and our reputation clear.

GEOLOGY TRIP

A big event for the geology department will be the field trip on October 22. They plan to leave from the Jaysee at 7 a. m. and journey to San Jose, where they will spend some time visiting places of interest.

They will go to Alum Rock Park for lunch and occupy the rest of the afternoon collecting specimens. They plan to be home by 5 o'clock.

EXCHANGES

Do you like to read other school papers? After this the Battery is adopting the policy of putting all of its old exchanges in the opke room where the students of the junior college will be free to read them at their convenience. If some paper that you would like to see is lacking, come in and tell us about it, and we will ask for an exchange.

PAINT POT

It takes real artists to draw a crowd. Then no wonder there was such a gathering on the school's back porch last Friday. The landscape painting class was out to capture on paper the beauty of this year's first rainfall. "Like duck to water," was Mr. Amyx's description.

One of Monterey peninsula's leading women athletes, Dorothea Dawson, is really going to town in the art department. Planning to teach the subject, Dodo is taking every kind of art from crafts to art history.

Early this summer she won the Monterey county tennis championship, and tomorrow she will compete for the peninsula title at the Monterey Union High School. She's no piker with badminton or archery, either.

After junior college, Dorothea is going to the California School of Fine Arts. She thinks Mr. Amyx is the ideal art teacher. We can see that Dodo will be just as influential with the men students as Mr. Amyx is with the women.

INSTITUTE TO BE HELD IN SALINAS

Elementary, high school, and junior college teachers from three counties will attend the annual Thanksgiving week institute at Salinas Junior College November 21, 22, and 23. Students' favorite high school teachers from Santa Barbara, Monterey and Santa Cruz counties will be there.

Teachers will meet all day on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Walter Dexter, of Sacramento, State Superintendent of Schools. Dr. R. D. Case, Superintendent of Salinas Schools, will be the local chairman. T. S. MacQuiddy, district secretary of the C. T. A., and Earl F. Sauble will be in charge of the three-day program.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE WAITS FOR SPONSOR

A Hallowe'en dance will be given in the junior college gym Friday night, October 28, providing that a sponsor is secured for the affair. If any of the school clubs would like to make extra money, please see Jack Kympton or Mr. Sauble about sponsoring the dance. Here's a good chance for the frosh to start their treasury. Funds might prove helpful for the pajamarino dance in the near future.

BOARD MEMBERS ARE PLEASED WITH STUDENT ROOTERS

Pleased by the huge turnout for the Salinas J. C. - Stanford game at Palo Alto last Saturday, W. B. Murray, president of the Salinas Junior College Board, and Mr. Harry Nolan, very active member, hope to be able to make more student trips possible in the future.

These two board members attended the game and were impressed not only by the creditable performance of the team and the band, but also by the turnout and enthusiasm of the Salinas rooters.

Band at Stanford

The Salinas J. C. Band, in full uniform, marched and played for the first time in the Stanford stadium last Saturday.

This is the first public appearance the band has made this year in their gay new maroon and gold uniforms.

The band marched triumphantly into the stadium a few minutes after the kick-off of the Stanford - J. C. game, and put on a splendid show for the audience. At the half, the band marched onto the football field and performed many oblique and turns, which they have been practicing for some time.

IN OUR MAIL

Dear Editor:

I realize that this matter has been brought up before, but I am still wondering whether or not something can be done about the noise in the library. Upon the rare occasions when I do go into the library for the purpose of studying (and I really said study) I would like to accomplish this purpose without all these interruptions and distractions. It seems to me that when people arrive at college age, they should be old enough to respect the rights of others. CAN'T SOMETHING BE DONE?? We can all see that Mr. Auginbaugh does his level best to preserve order, but even that does not suffice. Must we appoint monitors (and in so doing go back to our high school days) to get this so-called "golden silence"? There are times in the lives of even the most fluttering of the social butterflies when they must surely long for solitude (or what must pass for that) and if the library is not the place for it, what is? CAN'T SOMEONE THINK OF SOMETHING? After all, if we must act like high school babies, why bother even to come to college? There is plenty of room for such in high school.

Yours in the hope of a chance to study.

A SEEKER OF SILENCE.

Dear Editor:

Isn't there anything that can be done with these strong-arm students who persist in breaking the cords to the window shades in the typing room? We are not allowed to move the typewriters, and as a result, we are nearly blinded by the sun from the windows whose shades won't go up. Please see what can be done about this situation.

adjourn to the J. C. gym, where there will be dancing until 12 o'clock. All alumni are cordially invited to attend this dance, which will be an annual OLD GRAD dance in the future.

The regular admission to the game will be 50 cents, but for those students who want to get tickets for their mothers and dads, the price will be 25 cents. Students who wish to purchase mothers' and dads' tickets may do so at the office. The offer is confined to two tickets per student. High school students with student body cards will be admitted for 25 cents; grammar school children, for ten cents apiece.

Ramblings

By DIZ

Now is the time for all good people to come to the aid of this column by doing something that can be put in print. Especially Marlin Dimick . . . he is too good to be true. Frankly we believe he is doing something under cover and we want to know what . . . Anyone having any suggestions, please drop a notice in the Battery box.

It seems that Harold Cushing is wearing Helen Momand's cross. That's one cross that's certainly not hard to bear. At least that's what the eyes say.

James Young and Ernest Ccatini were writing a rip-roaring western thriller on the King City bus. Typewriter and everything, with the whole bus cheering the hero and hissing the villain.

Mr. Murrin claims to be an authority on women's dress. According to our eminent professor, women fail to consult their own architecture before choosing clothes. "Else", as he says, "why would girls who are easier to go over than around wear hats that are as big as the top of a pencil, while girls who are as slender as a bean-pole wear hats that look like the smokestack on a chimney." Mr. Murrin and Mr. Eris ought to get together and write a column on the long and short of this hat wearing business.

At the Sir Francis Drake over the weekend was our old pal Bill Murray. Remember the manager of the book store last year? He is now attending West Point Academy.

Also sashaying at the Drake was Ed Baker, all decked out in tux and everything. Mighty pretty little nurse you had there, Ed.

Rumors are bouncing about the campus concerning Everett Chetwood. Everyone wants to know why you're flying south with the birds, Chesty?

These blondes have fatal charms! Just witness the change that has come upon Red Roth. He goes to church on Sunday, plays volleyball on Monday and spends the rest of his time in the library just to be closer to his light of love.

We have another "Wrong-Way Corrigan" in our school . . . People would like to know if Keith Pope really thought that he was in Santa Cruz when he was 20 miles north of San Francisco last Saturday night. Was the conversation that interesting, Keith?

Harriet Shaw isn't Melvin Shaw's sister; she's no relation at all. The sister is Ruth Shaw. Sorry, folks.

Let's see you all at our Victory Dance tonight. Show your team that you're behind them. Make a Victory Dance an event of every night game. This can be done only with your cooperation at the first dance. Be seeing you.

Margaret Ann King: "I don't like it. They look silly, especially the big ones."

Byron Scott: "I think it's a grand idea. It makes the girls look their ages."

Gordon Bain: "Definitely! The bigger the better."

Edith Onell, when asked what she thought of it, replied (by proxy of Anna Marie Veet): "I don't think, but aren't they starting awfully early?"

Norman Rhodes and Bob Steiner (they stick together): "It's a great idea. As long as the boys have to make fools of themselves, the girls should, too. It seems to us that the boys who don't wear whiskers should wear ribbons. On the other hand, girls who can grow a beard shouldn't have to wear a ribbon."

Bob Kane: "It's a good idea. I, personally, like the fancy frilly kind and the big ones."

Vivian Stephenson: "It's a lot of fun if everyone joins in, but those who don't must join the clean-up committees." (Better get out the ribbons, girls).

Dick Macfarlane: "I refuse to reply until I consult my lawyer. In fact, I'm neutral about the whole thing."

Marijane Raymond thinks one word will describe the whole idea — "Cute!"

Bearded Team Planned

The Gilroy Bussers are planning a shurprise. They are going to start a "House of Adam" baseball team to give us a visual reminder of the Whiskerino, long after it should be just a memory. They are going to let their beards grow until they are long enough to braid, for "Esquire" announces that the latest thing for the well-dressed young man is a multi-colored braided affair, laced around the edges with a two-tone frilled hair-net effect. Look out, boys, or there will be flying bats as well as flying balls.

Fashions

By EL

As you all know, there has been an almost revolutionary change in the colors being worn this season, but the most revolutionary of all is the new indescribable (it must be seen to be appreciated, and who hasn't seen it?) shade of blue called "teal". One of the most effective uses of it yet seen is a straight-lined teal coat with a soft gray fur collar. The collar is one of those neck-warning ones, and the sleeves of the coat are full, with a close-fitting cuff that buttons at the wrist. The smart new suede hats are also being made in teal in the variations on the prosaic beret and the always popular "rollers" or brimmed hats.

Black Still Smart

Despite all the wonderful new colors, black is as smart and as easily worn as ever. The basic black dress with flaming costume jewelry, white pique collar and cuffs, or any one of hundreds of other accompanying accessories is the most sensible thing that any co-ed could choose. The new shades of Goya red, Yosemite green, deep wines, and brilliant purples all blend to perfection with black and set it off in a distinctly new way.

Novelties

Some of our fashion queens are never satisfied, it seems. They are even wearing four pairs of shoes, as Marjorie Easton has evidenced. The latest in lapel ornaments is a pair of wooden boots suspended from a little wooden platform.

Another advocate of lapel ornaments is Maie Goodman whose pin is an opened full cigarette case with three packages of unopened cigarettes dangling from the case.

A two-piece powder blue knitted suit with a tiny pocket on the outside of the sleeve for a fancy handkerchief, is our own Winifred Kincannon's contribution to the realm of novelty in fashion.

BUSH LEAGUERS ON THREE WEEKS' GROWTH SPREE

Warning! Keep all children away from school during Whiskerino Week. If allowed on the campus, they will probably receive a shock that would ruin the rest of their lives. They would never understand what goes on here, for if the boys carry out their promises, they will all resemble the much-famed bogey-man. Also, if children were around when the judging takes place, there's a possibility that they might nose out Dick Carlisle and Pussy Andreason, who have such high hopes and that's about all.

Byron Scott, the triple-threat man from King City—you know, tall, tan and terrific — has decided to bring out his personality this year in his facial adornments. He's going to wear sideburns and a mustache — Casanova type, get it?

Tom Ferron, that jitterbug of the clash-bangs, has decided to leave all to fate and the best hair-grower he can get.

Although fashion is spinach, Lynn Turgeon is not a vegetarian; therefore he will do his part by growing mutton-chops. Of course, he'll have to give them a hundred strokes every night to make them soft to the touch. Now if he could raise spuds, it would be a full course meal for him from now on.

Bob Haux is going to let nature take its course. He'll do all he can, but he thinks it's better if he carries a microscope around with him just in case the judges don't believe him.

Joe Garcia, the leader of the guards, promises to show us something really tricky in the manner of hair growing. He even says he'll have some red in it to make it easier for him to throw the bull.

Another "personality" lad is Howard Levy. If he means what he says, it will bring out his inner-self — he going to grow a blue beard.

Ben Crawford promises to shoot the works. Nothing less than a forest will please this timber man from Oregon.

Louis De Lorenzo is going to have something really fancy. He's going to have sideburns for a week, and then he's going to trim them. By the time he's finished, he plans to have something that resembles an over-grown spit curl.

Gus Scattini will not give up! If all else fails, he is going to cut out a beard and mustache and past them on his face. That is the right attitude!

Gordon Barnes' relatives will turn in their graves when they see our southern gentleman sporting a Van Dyke. If his beard grows as slowly as he draws, he'll just won't have anything, sho' nuff!

Around the World

Among the spectators witnessing the Minnesota-Purdue game last Saturday was Helen Keller. For the first time in 35 years, Miss Keller saw a football game.

Miss Keller has not regained her eyesight; the game was telegraphed with the use of hands, those of Miss Polly Thompson, who accompanied her to the game.

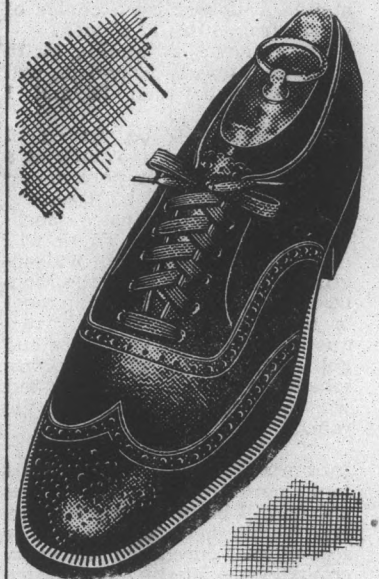

Miss Keller said she greatly enjoyed the game and would like to attend another.

Miss Keller saw her last football game as a student at Radcliff College in 1904.

Soup from coffee grounds is the latest achievement of German scientists. Under the four-year plan, a special chemical company has been formed in Berlin to collect coffee grounds which, in that city alone, are estimated at nine tons daily. The grounds are supposed to yield 20 per cent fat and resin and the remainder a pure cellulose suitable for the production of plastics.

Complete isolation of vitamin K, diet factor necessary for coagulation of blood, was announced by Dr. Edward A. Daisy, St. Louis University research chemist. Dr. Daisy said the transparent and colorless crystals of pure vitamins were obtained from alfalfa meal oil.

Panthers Ready For Tough Marin Players Tonight; Game At 8

By STROMBERG

Salinas will get its first look at night football tonight when the Jaysee Panthers play the Marin Junior College eleven under the new $2,000 lights in the "Lettuce Bowl."

The gridiron will really be lit up with the 32 lights, each pouring forth 1500 candle-power. The amazing thing about all this light is that it's almost as cheap as sunshine. The total cost per night is only $3.50.

The Panthers have been practicing under the lights for the past week to get accustomed to night playing and will be all set for the Marin gridsters when they march onto the field tonight. The local boys will go into the game with a re-organized backfield. Howard Shinn, former quarterback, will move back into full; Osmer will be back in at quarter; Morasci will play left half; and Paul will be in at right half. Captain Sid Carter will still be out because of his ankle injury.

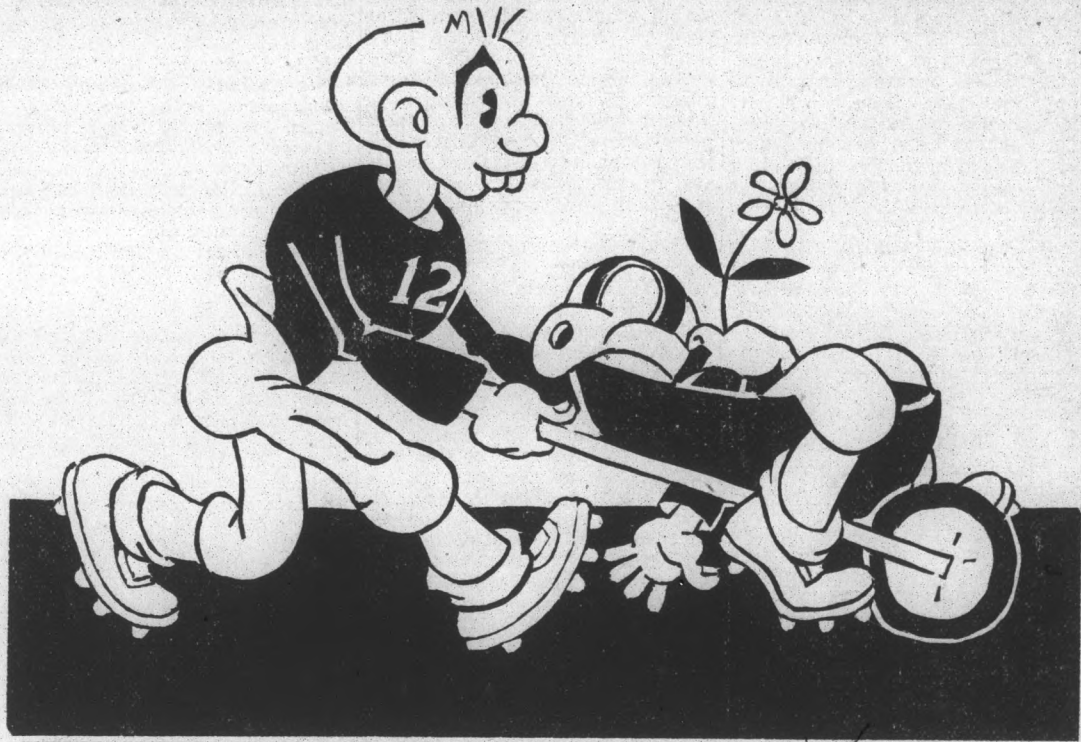

The Marin squad is a little heavier than the Panthers and includes eight lettermen. They have compiled a pretty good record so far this season, having four victories and one defeat. Last Saturday the Marin outfit beat the Menlo eleven 13-0. Besides this victory, they have beaten the San Francisco Boys' Club, 19-0; Cal Aggies frosh, 13-0; and Placer Jaysee, 6-0. Their only defeat came at the hands of the Stockton Junior College, to whom they lost, 9-6.

A packed stadium is anticipated with the maroon and gold band doing its stuff on the field between halves.

Following is the starting lineup for each of the teams tonight.

The title of northern California champion was bestowed upon Martin when he defeated the former champion, Czar Marcevic, in a special match in which he threw 701 ringers against Czar's 692.

Martin recently broke his own record of 42 ringers out of a possible 50 by throwing the amazing score of 46 out of 50.

for practice games on October 24 and 26, so when the actual competition starts they will know something about the sport. Freshmen will be pitted against sophomores with competition fever running high.

Salinas Gives Stanford Frosh Tough Battle

An injury-riddled but stubborn Salinas Panther football squad gave an undefeated Stanford frosh outfit unexpected resistance for three quarters, but the latter finally squeezed out a pair of touchdowns in the third period and won 13-6 Saturday in the Stanford stadium at Palo Alto.

The teams battled on even terms throughout the first half, with the locals halting several Stanford scoring threats, one on the one-foot line. The Panthers gave the Stanford team a few uneasy moments in the second quarter when two passes, Morasci to Garcia, netted 30 yards to place the ball on the 40-yard stripe. Osmer swept around left end for 20 yards more, but unfortunately an offside penalty was called against the team.

Unable to advance further, Estes, in a neat exhibition of kicking, punted the ball out on the one-yard line.

Stanford's first score came when halfback Albert threw a short pass to Kmetovic, who ran over the goal line with the ball. The kick for conversion was blocked.

Stanford intercepted a pass later in the third period, and with Albert hurling passes, brought the pigskin to the four-yard line, from where he scored on a cutback over his own left tackle. This time the kick was good.

With the Panthers trailing 13-0, Joe Garcia gave the crowd a thrill by snaring a pass from Estes and galloping across the goal a play that netted 80 yards. Officials ruled, however, that Joe stepped out of bounds on the 25-yard line, and the ball was brought back to this point. This scoring threat ended when Salinas kicked out of bounds.

Jaysee scored late in the third period when Pump Vella, after racing around left end for a short gain, heaved a pass to Scattini, who leaped high, evaded a couple of tacklers, and scampered to a score. The play netted 45 yards.

The fourth quarter was cut to five minutes instead of the usual 15 so that the Stanford-Oregon game could start on time.

Salinas Bows to Stanford, 13-6

Salinas Junior College proved to be no push-over for the highly touted Stanford frosh last Saturday and the Card Babes admitted it.

One Salinas touchdown was called back because the officials claimed that Joe Garcia, Salinas end, stepped out of bounds after receiving a pass from Morasci. Another time Frank Osmer, the flashy Salinas quarter, dragged four men on his back down to the Stanford 10-yard line, but a penalty of both sides off-side brought the ball back to the Salinas 40-yard marker.

On the whole, the locals played their hearts out, but the breaks were against them. Outstanding for the Salinas Panthers was Ed Daigle, end, who played a brilliant game on defense as well as on offense. Ed broke through and smeared the Stanford backs for great losses.

The playing of John Silliman and Owen Kenna would call works of praise from any wise coach. These lads were back to cover when the Stanford backs took to the air.

Rodger Yawata, guard, played a defensive game that drew attention from the spectators and made the coaches tab him as a possible first stringer. Nick Nardiello, stocky little guard, made a good showing at his position.

Several of the Stanford players stated that Salinas was the toughest squad that they had encountered so far this season. Neither team could make much yardage through the line, but the Stanford ends were caught off guard and long gains were recorded for the Panthers. Salinas had planned an air attack, but Stanford undoubtedly had the same idea and started throwing everything at the Panthers except the referee. All three touchdowns were the results of passes. Substitutes for Stanford were limited in Saturday's game because they were against a tough squad and they knew it after the first few plays. When the Papoose freshmen played Pomona J. C., Stanford's third team did most of the playing.

On the other hand, Coaches Ed Adams and "Bud" Winter sent in subs throughout the game. The goal line stand that the Salinas team put up in the first quarter was something that almost "got" the frosh. Early in the first quarter Stanford advanced the ball to the locals' three-yard line. After two attempts it was first and ten on the Panthers' two. Three breath-taking tries and one pass failed to net Stanford a score. Again in the second period the Panthers held the frosh on the ten-yard marker.

Merle Estes, kicking under pressure, was highly praised for his placements. Several times in the game showing what he could do when the going was tough by packing the ball when yards were needed and kicking behind the Panthers goal line.
